

A photograph of three hikers on a mountain ridge at sunset. A woman in a plaid shirt and shorts is helping a man with a backpack climb up. Another man is standing behind them. The sun is low on the horizon, creating a strong lens flare and silhouetting the hikers. The image is split diagonally, with the top half showing the hikers and the bottom half showing a dark, rocky landscape.

GEOLOGIC PATH

Let's discover the deep and ancient history of the Alps!

This didactic path is a circular easy mountain track, guided by eight didactic panels located on its whole length. From the arrival lift station of Passo Salati, it leads to the Scientific Institute Angelo Mosso first, proceeding then to Col d'Olen, and finally up to Corno del Camoscio (geological panels) before returning to Passo Salati.

It aims at promoting the knowledge of the geological history of the Alps and the features of high altitude grounds.

ANGELO MOSSO SCIENTIFIC INSTITUTE

The Institute was opened in 1907 and it is located in Col d'Olen, connection point between Piedmont and Aosta Valley, 2.901 meters high and easily reachable by a short and panoramic path. It has the name of its own founder, professor of Physiology at the University of Turin from 1879 to 1910. During the first thirty years of activities - including a break during the 1st World War - even four hundred researchers worked into the Institute, both Italians and not. Researches, laboratory activities and learning are still the core of its activity. Ancient instruments and the outputs of years of research can now be admired!

BOTANIC PATH

This easy track is 2,3 km long, with an average ascension of just 53 meters. Let everyone discover the peak of Corno del Camoscio (3.026 m), with an amazing view on Monte Rosa, Giordani peak, the eastern side of Lyskamm peak, Rifugio Mantova and Gnifetti. The path then leads to Col d'Olen and the Scientific Institute Angelo Mosso, owned and directed by the University of Turin. In summer, between the end of June and August it is possible to admire and observe many alpine plants. Didactic panels are located along its whole progression to help and guide visitors.

GREEN BIKE RING

A circular itinerary is perfectly merged into the green grounds of Pianalunga and Alpe Seiwji. Both by bike or by foot, its stages are easy and nice: a slide on the Tubing, a panoramic stop-over, a look at the pasturing animals, and a traditional lunch or break in the Rifugio!

FROM PASSO SALATI TO THE GLACIER

Under the careful gaze of an Alpine Guide and in a nice group experience, the tracks perfectly fit to people who want to approach the magnificent glaciers of Monte Rosa. The starting is Passo Salati, and the destination Rifugio Mantova (3.498 m) and Gnifetti (3.647 m), just a few steps from the highest peaks of the Massif!

ROCK BIKE ARENA

Four bike tracks depart from Passo Salati (2.980 m), to Cimalegna (2.650 m), with a maximum lenght of 5 km. While cycling your adventure, you can't miss some points of interest: the Scientific Institute Angelo Mosso with its ancient heritage and Col d'Olen, authentic panoramic stage on the whole Valley, with Rifugio Vigevano not in activity nowadays. You can chose your suitable way, or try all the possibile downways in Alagna, or explore the whole Monte Rosa from Alagna to Champoluc!

PENDOLEN

An extreme jump from the middle of the rock wall of Cimalegna, 200 m high. Feel the shake and then admire the beauty of the Valley at 360°! It's the most adrenalinic jump of the Alps, an authentic experience, a unique way to live the mountain but completely safe. Are you ready for the next level?

A photograph of three young children tubing down a river. The child in the foreground is a girl with long brown hair, wearing a purple cardigan over a patterned shirt and striped pants, with her feet sticking out of her red inflatable tube. Behind her are two other children, a girl and a boy, also smiling and tubing. The background is a lush green hillside. The image is partially covered by a diagonal pink and blue overlay.
